

Whitney works diligently at her job, providing customer service for those that use the restaurant's drive-through window. As a direct result of breathing her customers' secondhand smoke, Whitney is now almost always short of breath, and wonders why she is being left behind.

She works hard to keep our environment clean – She deserves a clean environment too, free of secondhand smoke.

Don't leave me behind.

He can't play if he can't breathe – We fight for his right to breathe smokefree air in his workplace.

Carol, a nonsmoker, was recently laid off from her job at a Las Vegas Casino. Her employers gambled with her life.
